KOCH INDUSTRIES ADDS TWO BOARD MEMBERS

WICHITA, Kan. – Koch Industries, Inc. today added two new members to its board of directors. Long-time Koch company leaders Jeff Gentry and Dave Robertson, the first additions to the board since 1997, were also promoted to executive vice president positions.

“These two leaders have excellent track records of creating value for Koch Industries,” said Koch Industries chairman and chief executive officer, Charles Koch. “I have every confidence that all our companies will benefit from their contributions as board members and executive vice presidents.”

“Both Dave and Jeff have fully earned these positions,” said Joe Moeller, Koch Industries president and chief operating officer. “Their continued and expanded leadership is vital as we position ourselves for the tremendous growth opportunities we intend to capture in the months and years ahead.”

Gentry, who joined Koch in 1983, will continue to serve as president of Koch Mineral Services, LLC and chairman of the board for Koch Cellulose, LLC. The University of Kansas graduate became an officer of the company in 1999.

Robertson, an Emporia State University graduate, joined Koch in 1984. He previously became an officer of the company in 2000 and has served as president and chief executive officer of Flint Hills Resources, LP since 2002. With this promotion, Robertson will become chairman of the board for Flint Hills Resources, return to being a Koch Industries employee, and oversee business groups involved in commodity trading, asphalt, and other activities.

Koch Industries, Inc., based in Wichita, Kan., owns a diverse group of companies engaged in trading, investment and operations. These companies have a presence in about 50 countries and employ more than 30,000 people in core industries such as trading, petroleum, chemicals, energy, gas liquids, asphalt, fibers and intermediates, minerals, fertilizers, pulp and paper, chemical technology equipment, ranching, securities and finance, as well as in other ventures and investments.
